

Destroy Nothing

Based in Indio, CA

Miguel Arballo:

Vocals, Guitar, Bass

Sean McCune:

Vocals, Drums, Programming

Bio

Destroy Nothing (formerly Analog Lab) is a post-hardcore rock band from Indio, California. The band consists of Miguel Arballo on guitar, vocals, and bass, Sean McCune on drums, vocals, and programming. Their journey began with "Swallow the Sun", the debut EP, in 2022; and they continued exploring the sonic landscape with the follow-up EP, "ANTI DOVE", released on June 2023. The release of the singles collection, "Deaf, Dumb, and Blind", on September 2023, coincided with a chain of shows across Southern California and Arizona to showcase their high energy performances and passion for the music they were creating; making many friends along the way. Destroy Nothing's music embodies a blend of rock and hardcore, hypnotic soundscapes, with a touch of incisive and nostalgic lyrics.

The band spent the majority of 2023 exploring with their sound and finding their drive, and came to the realization that a new name was needed to portray who they really are. Destroy Nothing released their debut LP, "Black Cat Rollercoaster" on January 26, 2024.